

STELLAR QUARTET SCORED A BIG HIT

One of the finest male quartets ever heard in Kingston pleased large audience with well sung program in High School Auditorium Friday.

The last song, and that an encore, proved the finest number sung by the famous Stellar Quartet in the high school auditorium Friday evening. The song was Metcalfe's "Absent" and it was sung unaccompanied, and lovers of concerted numbers were given a real thrill of pleasure at the exquisite harmonies of the four voices. The song was sung with a gem of melody with every word distinct and clear cut. It was the only number of the entire evening that was sung unaccompanied, and if any regret may be expressed as to the concert it was that the numbers were not sung unaccompanied.

The members of the quartet were: Everett Clark, first tenor; Reed Miller, second tenor; Andrea Sarto, first bass; and Charles Robinson, second bass. The accompanist was Frank Braun, who rendered a delightful piano solo at the close of the first part that was so good he had to respond to an encore. It is seldom that such finished artists as Reed Miller, Andrea Sarto and the other members of the quartet are heard in Kingston, and lovers of four part singing were given a veritable feast.

Each member of the quartet was also a solo artist, and after the opening number "The Viking Song," that was sung with virile strength and harmony, Charles Robinson, the second bass of the quartet, rendered the solo song "On the Road to Mandalay," one of Kipling's soldier lays set to a stirring tune, and sung most excellently by Mr. Robinson who has a sonorous voice of range and power. He responded to repeated applause by singing "Dear Old Pal of Mine," which displayed the beauty and control of his voice.

The trio numbers "Moonlight and Honey-suckle" and "Nightingale" sung by Messrs. Clark, Miller and Sarto, the two tenors and the baritone, were some of the best sung numbers on the program. The voices harmonized well, and the numbers themselves were very catchy.

Reed Miller sang as his solo of the evening "If With All Your Heart" from Elijah, at the request of some of the music lovers of the city. Mr. Miller is famous from coast to coast as an oratorio artist, and why he had become famous was quickly learned when he sang. All of the beauty, power and control of his voice was displayed in this number and he was forced to respond to an encore singing Strickland's "Mah Lindy Lou" which had been dedicated by the author to Mr. Miller. This displayed all the lighter qualities of Mr. Miller's voice, which is one of the best tenors ever heard in Kingston.

The first part closed with the quartet singing "Sweet Molly Malone" and "Auld Lang Syne" the latter by special request, and a piano solo by Mr. Braun.

The second part of the program opened with Beaulieu's famous baritone and tenor duet "The Hunting Song," sung by Mr. Miller and Mr. Sarto. That both men are artists and the possessors of magnificent voices goes without saying, and never had the Hunting Song been better sung in Kingston. They replied to applause by singing "Two Jolly Beggars."

Then Andrea Sarto sang his first baritone solo of the evening the prologue from Pagliacci, which he sang in English. This is one of the most famous baritone solos in grand opera, and Mr. Sarto who has been a member of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, sang the number with dramatic power and exceptionally fine vocal coloring. He also responded to an encore. Mr. Sarto has without question one of the finest baritone voices ever heard in Kingston as those who possess his phonograph records well know.

The quartet then sang their latest contribution, Mr. Miller said, to the Columbia list of May records the popular song "My Mammy." This song had been scored so as to bring out all the vocal beauty of all the four voices with each having a bit of a solo part throughout the number. It takes a quartet like the Stellar Quartet to sing a popular song and raise it to the plane of real music. Their second number was "Mammy's Sassy Honey Boy," another popular that was sung with all vocal harmonies and was so good that the quartet was forced to respond with an encore singing "Daddy's Army," which they are scheduled to make a record of next week in the Columbia laboratories.

Everett Clark, the first tenor, has a voice of rare quality throughout his entire number, and sang delightfully "Mammy" and as an encore "Mother Macdore." Both were solo songs.

The program was then brought to a close with a medley of old time popular songs such as "See Me Pined in Old Kentucky," and "The Olden Days." The quartet was then the first of twenty years ago were called like a scroll before their eyes and the quartet sang these old time songs with a vim and vigor that was a real treat to the audience.

Then as an encore and as the closing number of the evening the quartet, recalled by instant applause of an audience that did them no wrong, sang "Aloha," which is one of their most popular records. It was undoubtedly the gem of the

ROBBERY VICTIM UNDER ARREST

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Chicago, April 23.—Julius J. Reingold, who yesterday figured as one of the victims of a $260,000 diamond robbery, today was held at police headquarters as one of the instigators of the robbery. His brother, Leo Reingold, also was held. The two were to be grilled by detectives today.

The robbery occurred in Julius Reingold's office, Leroy Present, a diamond salesman of Rochester, N. Y., was displaying to Reingold his stock of diamonds. Reingold entered, bound Present and Reingold and made off with the jewels.

Circumstances surrounding the robbery, chiefly the ease and smoothness with which it was executed, aroused the suspicions of the police and Reingold and his brother were taken into custody. Chief of Detectives Hughes declared today he believed the robbery to have been a "frame up." Present was held innocent by the police, who believe he was lured to Reingold's office to be robbed.

Julius Reingold, according to the police, was arrested on January 3, last, charged with receiving diamonds stolen from Samuel Rubenstein. He returned the stones and the case was dropped.

SAVED BY JACOB HUBEN

Who Wouldn't Permit Rosendale Dogs To Get Goat.

An old lady, with white hair that flowed over her shoulders and reached to her knees attracted much attention as she walked through the main street of Rosendale, Thursday morning, leading a small goat at the end of a rope. A hundred or more children followed her, thinking she was Rip Van Winkle's wife, and there was excitement when the village dogs entered the scene and made flank attacks on the goat. Jacob Huben, who had long experience as a deputy sheriff and is thoroughly posted on police powers, seeing the conditions and having sympathy for the woman, came to the rescue and put the dogs in flight. Mr. Huben ascertained from the woman that she had been raised among Indians and knowing of a recipe for making a hair restorer and preservative out of herbs, had made up a lot of the hair restorer. Of course Mr. Huben bought a dozen packages, and directed her to the homes of other villagers where numerous other packages were purchased, after the women had exhibited her long gray hair and told that the restorer had done the work of preserving it.

FROM ACORN TO STATUE

Wonderful Growth Noted By Speakers At Kingston Meeting.

Speakers in public meetings, figures of speech which are more than mixed. A speaker at a public gathering in Kingston some time ago delivered in a most impressive manner this startling bit of information:

"Our forefathers," he said, "planted the little acorn along the shores of the Atlantic and it grew until it became the giant red wood of the Pacific coast which, like the Statue of Liberty, not only enlightens the world but strengthens every nation on the face of God's footstool."

One man in the audience left the place then and there. It was Sunday, and he feared he might desecrate the Sabbath with his thoughts if he heard any more such mixed statements which he finds it impossible to straighten out.

Reared Acorn Here

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cooper of this city have rented the Hotel Miter at Arena, Delaware county, and will open it for transients as well as summer boarders. The hotel, which has accommodations for fifty guests, has been closed for the past six months.

Taking the program as a whole it was one of the best balanced ever given here, and lovers of a single evening will not soon forget the evening of delightful musical pleasures afforded by the famous Stellars.

OLSEN SENTENCED TO DANNEMORA

For An Indeterminate Term of Not Less Than Seven Years Nor More Than Twelve Years.

Oscar Olsen, indicted by the grand jury on a charge of murder in the second degree and found guilty of manslaughter in the first degree for the killing of Guy Barringer at Samsonville in the town of Olive on December 30, last, was sentenced to Clinton state prison at Dannemora for an indeterminate term of not less than seven years or more than twelve years.

The case was submitted at 12:15 Friday and after the jury had been taken out for dinner they entered upon their deliberations. After being out about an hour they came in for instructions from the court. They desired to know if they might bring in a verdict for a lesser crime than murder and if a plea for mercy could be accepted by the court. They retired again at 2:15 and at 2:30 announced they had arrived at an agreement.

Olsen, in reply to the usual questions asked, stated that he was 45 years old, resided at Samsonville, was a ship carpenter; was married; born in Norway; his mother was living, could read and write in both English and Norwegian. Was temperate, had never before been convicted of any crime and was a Lutheran.

Francis C. Merritt, attorney for Olsen, asked for a stay of execution of sentence, the motion being denied by the court but the sheriff was directed by Judge Fowler to keep Olsen here for a week during which time he might close up his business and have chance to see his family.

There was no further business for the court and an adjournment was taken until Monday afternoon, April 25, at 2 o'clock when further criminal work will be taken up.

$591,000 BID FOR ALSEN PROPERTY

Charles Shongood, of New York, as auctioneer, sold at the court house, this city, Friday afternoon, equity of the property of the Marlborough Sand and Gravel Corporation. This corporation is part of the holdings of the Alsen Cement Company of America, Inc., and the sale was by the order of Edward H. Childs, as receiver, for both corporations. There was fully 100 men at the sale and it was very interesting not only because of the large amounts bid, but because of the repartee between Mr. Shongood and the famous auctioneer for the U. S. government, and Mr. Rosof of the Rosof Road Construction Company of Brooklyn.

The bidding started at $200,000 and which were raised mostly by I. Parselsky of Brooklyn, and Mr. Rosof, whose bid of $290,000 was accepted by the auctioneer. Mr. Parselsky's last bid was $260,000 which Mr. Rosof raised to $275,000, and said he was through. "No, you are not," replied Auctioneer Shongood. "I made up my mind to get $300,000 bid on the property, and have picked you out as a sport." Mr. Rosof refused to bid more, and the auctioneer said he would come down to $290,000 which, after some argument and whispering Mr. Rosof said he would bid, and the property was then struck off to the Rosof Road Construction Company. After the regular sale the property was put up on the percentage basis, the bidders being Parselsky and Rosof, the former offering to pay 100 cents to the creditors in full, to pay administration fees as fixed by the court and give a surplus of $25,000 in cash, or the receiver's certificate. The offer was run up between the two and finally the Rosof Road Construction Company offered a cash deposit of $50,000.

Before the auction sale Mr. Rosof renewed his bids made at Catskill on April 19th at the sale of the Alsen Cement Corporation of $301,000, and of $500,000 on the two plants combined. As his bid for the Marlborough Sand and Gravel Corporation, Friday, was $30,000 and for the Alsen Cement Company at Catskill was $301,000 the total of the separate bids combined is $591,000, or $90,000 more than at Catskill.

During the auction Senator Walton was bidder for interested parties. Among those present who are interested in the properties were John D. Schoonmaker, Jacob Rice, James F. Dwyer, William J. Turck, Richard Lenehan and representatives of creditor corporations. The bids are subject to confirmation or rejection by the United States district court for the Southern district of New York.

GERMAN OFFER NOT SATISFACTORY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, April 23.—The new German proposals for the reconstruction of the devastated regions of northern France are considered insufficient and unacceptable by the French government. The International News Service was reliably informed this afternoon.

Premier Briand is expected to tell Premier Lloyd George so at the conference at Hythe this afternoon.

The eyes of all France are eagerly fixed upon the old Kentish town where the two premiers are to thrash out the whole complex reparations question and arrive at a definite decision as to the joint attitude of France and Britain, not only toward Germany directly, but toward the prospect of American mediation which was opened by President Harding's note to Berlin.

That note continues to be the main topic of discussion in the French papers. It is now clear that three conflicting emotions dominate French feeling, namely:

1.—Satisfaction that the American president refused to be the umpire in the reparations question.

2.—Disappointment that he was not categorically refused to have any dealings whatever with Germany on the question.

3.—Hope that the new means America's reluctance into the at-bid councils.

Along German Way.

Clinton avenue near the head of Main street has become a white flight divided by reason of the large electric signs at the Euc-Smith Garage and the Stuyvesant Garage which light up the neighborhood.

BIG EVENTS IN WORLD POLITICS

At Hythe, England, the premiers of Britain and France are discussing the question of how to force Germany on and after May 1 to meet the reparations demands.

France is adamant in her insistence upon far-reaching military measures including the occupation of the Ruhr valley and other areas.

England opposes these steps, but it is believed, would agree to them rather than let France act single-handedly, thus precipitating the first open repudiation of her ally since the war.

But over their deliberations hovers the shadow of America, whom neither can afford to ignore. President Harding, in his note to Germany, has asked her to make a new offer and expressed willingness to consider forwarding it to the allies. He implied an earnest desire for a peaceful solution as against coercion.

To make that offer before the allied premiers have reached a final decision, and to frame that offer so it will be considered, is the momentous task confronting the German statesmen.

An International News Service despatch says they have hit upon a novel plan, namely, to offer a reparations total, with the suggestion that it be paid in annual instalments to be decided by an "international board of appraisal."

The note is expected to be cabled to Washington from Berlin at noon and announced in the reichstag a few hours later.

"GABBY" DREAMS OF A REPUBLIC

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Rome, April 23.—Is a "republic of Italy" the latest dream of Gabriele d'Annunzio and does he aspire to be its first president?

There are increasing signs that such is the case. The poet-warrior's attitude toward Italian national life, and particularly toward the national elections, is regarded as having all the earmarks of far-reaching ambitions on his part. He has refused to stand as a candidate in the elections at Zara and in other districts where he could have been easily elected. The general impression is that he is "out for bigger game."

Nor has he lost in popularity. On the contrary, support is steadily coming to him from quarters formerly hostile to his policies.

At the celebration of the birthday of Rome, for instance, Fascist (Conservative) and nationalist joined his own followers in cheering "d'Annunzio's republic," and there were even shouts expressing the wish that he enter the Quirinal Palace.

In reply to a telegram which Trieste veterans sent, the poet wrote that "parliament shall be destroyed, the Rappallo treaty with Jugo-Slavia shall be cancelled, and Italy's constitution shall be made the same as that which I gave to Fiume."

This is only part of a well-defined movement launched by d'Annunzio to win the support of the "common people" as well as of the Fascist and nationalists.

It is a movement that is looked upon with unconcealed misgivings in military and political circles, and the government is known to be watching it closely.

D'Annunzio, ostensibly living in "retirement" at his Villa in Garda, is really in constant touch with his followers at Fiume, who in turn are allied with the Fascist leaders in the principal cities of Italy, including Rome.

DEBATE WITH SCHENECTADY

This evening at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium Kingston High School's debating team will meet Schenectady for the championship of this district.

For some time in the past Kingston has not been very successful along the line of debating but this year we have an exceptionally good team as was shown in our recent victory over Poughkeepsie. This team has been working hard and no doubt Schenectady has been doing the same and the result of this work will be shown on the night of the debate.

The question which is to be discussed is of considerable moment and should be of interest to all. It is resolved, That the United States should maintain an effective Navy at least equal in strength to that of Great Britain.

This promise to be a very interesting debate and will be well worth your time and the small price that will be charged for admission.

Must Be a Trade Cargo.

New York, April 23.—If you are unable to see ghosts, it is because you are too rational. Dr. Joseph Jacobson, professor of psychology at the University of Wisconsin, in a discussion at the New York Academy of Medicine, stated a person could not see a ghost unless he was just "a little bit crazy," but added that to be entirely sane and rational would be a pitiful state for any one.

It was a Remark.

DAYLIGHT SAVING BEGINS SUNDAY

Clocks Will Be Turned Ahead One Hour In 37 Cities, Including Kingston, As Result Of Local Option Law.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., April 23.—The clocks will be turned ahead an hour in 37 cities of the state tomorrow. Thirty-seven of them adopted a uniform ordinance prepared by the New York state conference of mayors, and under a subsequent act these ordinances are made to apply to all public officers, courts and legal proceedings. Jamestown and Olean are the only cities which disapproved the daylight saving plan. The 37 cities which adopted the ordinance are: Albany, Amsterdam, Buffalo, Cohoes, Cortland, Geneva, Glen Cove, Glens Falls, Gloversville, Hudson, Johnstown, Utica, Lockport, Kingston, New York, Niagara Falls, Ogdensburg, Oswego, Plattsburgh, Newburgh, Rochelle, Lackawanna, Little Falls, Mount Vernon, Port Jervis, Poughkeepsie, Rensselaer, Rome, Saratoga, Schenectady, Syracuse, Tonawanda, Troy, Watertown, Watervliet, White Plains and Yonkers.

Mrs. Elting spoke briefly of the work of the Industrial Home and its need for financial assistance. If people would visit the home and see for themselves the work which is carried on there, they would contribute most gladly toward its support and maintenance and special entertainments and similar undertakings would not be necessary in order to raise funds.

Mayor George R. Lunn of Schenectady spoke on politics as he had encountered them and the effects of the World War.

POLICE RAIDED HOTEL EICHLER

Friday Afternoon Seizing About 7 Gallons of Alleged Booze and Placing Proprietor Conrad Rabel Under Arrest—One $12 Quart Led to Raid—Hearing Later.

A quart of whiskey found in possession of Jacob Chelowen, who is employed at Shandaken, and was arrested Thursday night on a charge of having booze in his possession, led to Chief of Police L. Allan Wood obtaining a search warrant from County Judge Joseph M. Fowler on Friday, and raiding the Hotel Eichler about 4 o'clock that afternoon, seizing from five to seven gallons of alleged whiskey and wine, and placing Proprietor Conrad Rabel under arrest. A hearing in the search and seizure proceedings will be held before Judge Fowler on May 4, while a hearing in the case of Mr. Rabel charged with violating the prohibition act will be held Thursday morning in police court. Mr. Rabel is represented by Chris J. Flanagan.

Chelowen was arrested on Railroad avenue Thursday evening by Sergeants Phiney and Hanley, and was closely questioned as to where he had bought the quart bottle of whiskey he had in his possession. Finally Jacob alleged that he had an affidavit in which he alleges that on Thursday he had gone to the hotel and bought some drinks of whiskey paying 75 cents a drink.

Before he left the hotel he claims he bought the quart bottle of whiskey and that Mr. Rabel charged him $12 for it, which he paid.

Chief Wood after obtaining the affidavit from Chelowen had Judge Fowler issue a search warrant, and armed with the warrant Chief Wood, Sergeants Hanley and Phiney, and Officers Entrott and Fatum about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon raided the hotel, and seized the alleged booze which is in quart bottles and jugs, and is claimed to be whiskey and wine. The alleged booze was taken to police headquarters and sealed. The search and seizure proceedings will come up in county court before Judge Fowler on May 4, while this morning a hearing in the criminal charge against Mr. Rabel was adjourned until Thursday morning.

ANNUAL ROLL CALL SUPPER

The annual roll call supper and corporate meeting of the Wurts Street Baptist Church was held Thursday evening and like all these services for the past seven years, was largely attended and full of joy and inspiration.

Two hundred partook of the bountiful supper provided by the ladies of the church.

The "free-will" offering, for needed repairs to the parsonage, amounted to the goodly sum of $243.40, with more to be added.

Interesting letters were read by the clerk from absent members. H. A. Tremper and Dayton Murray were re-elected trustees to serve for three years. The music was furnished by the efficient choir of the church under the leadership of Professor Kuehn, with finely rendered solos by Ruth Sturgeon and Miss Helen Freer, and a song by the Baraca quartet, which Dr. Fuller happily characterized as "a fine quartet in process of making."

The first speaker was the Rev. Frank B. Seelye of the Fair Street Reformed Church who gave a most timely address suggested by incidents occurring recently in our city; such as the honor paid by the lawless, hoodlum element to the Christian women and Protestant clergymen at the recent public hearing before the common council when the bill to commercialize the Lord's Day was defeated by a majority vote of the aldermen. Dr. Seelye strongly argued the need of education and careful training especially of the young men in our community, lest the so-called "freedom craze," do as you have a mind to lawlessness, defeat the best in our cities like by destroying the essentials of all right living.

The last speaker was the Rev. G. S. Beckwith, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Newburgh where Dr. Fuller ministered for fifteen years between his first and second pastorate of the Wurts Street Church. Dr. Beckwith gave an exceedingly interesting address on church loyalty, full of clean wit and convincing wisdom. Nearly every point he made was illustrated by an apt story.

The impression this address made will not soon be effaced from the lives of those who heard it.

Altogether the service was one of unusual interest. Dr. Fuller said in bringing the meeting to a close, after he had thanked all who had helped in any way to make so profitable an evening, that he supposed they would be soon calling him a retired minister but he added, "I hope never truthfully a retired Christian."

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XXXVIII.—COLORADO

COLORADO is the most precious of our states, for in the mining of gold and silver it surpasses all other states, producing about one-third of the total output of the entire country. In fact, its real history starts in 1800, when gold was first discovered.

Prior to that time there had been but little settling in this region. Spanish explorers had traversed the country in the latter part of the Eighteenth century, and laid claim to it. As a part of the Louisiana Purchase it came into the possession of the United States in 1803. Officers of the United States army were sent out to explore this wilderness among whom were Lieutenant Pike in 1806, and it was after him that Pike's Peak was named. In 1819 Colonel Long made extensive explorations and he was followed in 1822 by Fremont, whose activities in the Mexican war brought him into much prominence. At the close of the Mexican war, Mexico ceded her rights to this territory to the United States, but it was considered a barren waste and unattractive for settlement.

Then in 1858 came the discovery of gold in the bed of Dry Creek, a few miles south of where Denver now stands. The following spring tens of thousands of men flocked into what was then called the Pike's Peak country. In 1869 Denver became a town of one thousand inhabitants, and by the next year had grown into a big city with newspapers, churches, and a government mine.

In 1891 the Territory of Colorado was created and in 1900 Colorado was admitted as the thirty-eighth state of the Union. Its area is 104,000 square miles and its population exceeds the state to six presidential electors.

The name is taken from the Colorado river, and is a Spanish adjective meaning "colored red." Colorado is often called the Centennial State, as it was admitted to the Union just one hundred years after the Declaration of Independence.

SOME MAIN DISHES.

Here are a few dishes, some of which may be used as the main dish for the meal.

Mexican Ham.—Take a slice of ham cut twice as thick as that used for ordinary frying, rub a small teaspoonful of mustard into its surface with a tablespoonful of brown sugar. Lay this in the bottom of a large casserole or baking pan. Pare and slice thin sufficient potatoes for the family. Cover the ham to the depth of two or three inches. Dot with bits of butter unless the ham has plenty of fat on the edges. Sprinkle with pepper and cover with milk as you would prepare escaloped potatoes. Bake in a moderate oven for two hours. The ham will be tender and delicious and can be cut with a fork; the potatoes will be seasoned to a turn and the family has a one-dish dinner which will serve, if the family is small, for two meals.

Those who have prepared them say that dried fruits make more delicious butters than the fresh fruit. For apple butter take the dried apples, washed and soaked over night in cider or water, then cook them in the same liquid until tender. A fireless cooker is a good place to cook it in. Add about one-third of the bulk in sugar. Cook as thick as desired; more sugar may be added if liked sweeter. A delightful change is made in blending different flavors such as apricots and apples, using two-thirds the quantity of apple to one-third of apricots.

Cottage Cheese Pie.—Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter; in it cook two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch and one-half teaspoonful of salt; add two-thirds of a cupful of honey or sugar, one cupful of cottage cheese pressed through a ricer, the yolks of three eggs beaten light, the grated rind of a lemon or orange; mix thoroughly and turn into a pastry lined plate in the same manner as for custard pie. Bake until firm. Beat the whites of three eggs light, add four tablespoonfuls of sugar and spread the meringue over the pie. Dredge with a teaspoonful of sugar and let cool in a moderate oven until the meringue is lightly browned. Serve the same day it is made.

WASHINGTON IN ENGLAND.

Since Byron sang of "The Cenci" and Thackeray wrote "The Virginians" English poets and novelists have not failed to pay the highest tributes to the character and purpose of George Washington. This has been done by British historians, too, and there is now said to be no better and more fully appreciative account than "The American Revolution" by Sir George Trevelyan, the nephew of Macaulay. Even during and shortly after the Revolution a large body of the British people admired and cherished friendly feeling toward Washington. Probably at no time was he as bitterly denounced in England as he was by his contemporary political opponents in America, some of whom claimed that he had "debauched" his country and that he "carried his designs against the public liberty so far as to put in jeopardy its very existence." But naturally it remained for the alliance of Great Britain and America in the war against Germany to make British appreciation of and pride in Washington universal and open the way for the honors soon to be conferred on his name.

Three busts of Washington, presented by American societies, are shortly to be unveiled in England: one near the tomb of Wellington in St. Paul's Cathedral, one in the town hall of Liverpool, and the third in Bulgrave Manor, the ancestral home of the Washingtons. More notable still is the bronze monument—a reproduction of the Hoodin statue, presented by the State of Virginia—to be placed in Trafalgar square, the very central spot of England, where it will divide public attention with the Nelson pillar and the equestrian statue of Charles I which faces Whitehall and the Houses of Parliament. The name of Washington is to have visible place among the names of England's greatest.

DOCTORS DIFFER.

When Dr. Stephen Smith of New York went jauntily off on a trip in February last to celebrate his 97th birthday a story was recalled as told by him when the physicians of his city had a dinner in honor of his 90th anniversary. Dr. John P. Davis, who related the story in the New York Herald, spoke of the dinner as "memorable in the history of American medicine" because Dr. Smith there revealed "the secret of his cure of lifelong indigestion," and went on to say: "The cure was due to President Cleveland, who sent Dr. Smith to represent the United States at an international health congress in Paris. Arriving there with his indigestion and other infirmities aggravated by a sea voyage and by his enforced separation from his American diet list, he was induced by some eminent French sanitarians and savants to partake of a French dinner with its accompanying service of wine scientifically adjusted to the digestion of each course. The effect was miraculous. The cure was not only permanent but reconcilable with scientific principles." How Dr. Smith has contrived to keep on taking his "care" since Congress has decreed a "dry" dinner for all is not stated.

This story is highly interesting from any point of view, whether those who read it are pleased or horrified. While some of the former will see in it confirmation of their own experience, the latter can at least find consolation in the fact that doctors differ and that what is one man's meat may be another man's poison.

A supposed authority is quoted as saying that "if the athletes now training for Yale teams could be fed on the proper diet, there is no doubt that Yale would retain her athletic supremacy." If it is merely a matter of vegetation containing vitamins, why can not Yale men be as well provided as the Harvard men who beat them at football or the Brooklyn men who beat them in rowing? It is more a matter of training, and still more a matter of men, than of the vegetation that are eaten.

The British miners want the government to "nationalize" the industry—take charge of the mines and pay the miners more than the tax-payers can stand. The government wouldn't see it, and so the miners have been threatening to destroy the mines. The British miners appear to be as slow-witted as other believers in fiat wealth created by the stroke of a government's pen.
